

Some of the questions and problems at the ends of the chapters are more useful review than are others. These are some of the ones I recommend.

Answers to the “problems” are in the Instructor’s Manual (posted on Canvas).

Answers to the “questions” are not available from the publisher but the Chapter Review in the Instructor’s Manual goes over the concepts and will be a useful source for clarification when going over the “questions”

Chapter 4

Questions for Review

- Questions 4.1-4.12 are all good review.
- Question 4.13 asks about the labor demand “curve” but we aren’t covering the labor demand/labor supply graph at this time.

Problems—5th edition

- Problems 1, 4, 8, 9, 11, 12, 15
- Problem 6 is more complicated than I would ask but each part of it is something that is good review

Problems—6th edition

- Problems 1, 4, 6, 8, 9, 12, 13, 16, 17

Chapter 5

Questions for Review

- Questions 2-11, 13-17 are all good review
- Questions 18 and 19 are about public goods provision and relate to the model at the end of Chapter 5 looking at a tradeoff between C and G when both provide utility. It is pretty much of a special-case and I don’t think the intuition it adds is worth the time it would take to understand it, so we’ll skip that.

Problems—5th edition

- Problems 2, 3, 5, 6, 8, 9
- Questions 4 and 7 are more complicated than I would ask but they are interesting applications
- Problems 10 and 11 related to the model of public goods that we are not covering at this time

Problems—6th edition

- Problems 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9
- Questions 3, 6 are more complicated than I would ask but they are interesting applications
- Questions 10-12 are related to the model of public goods that we are not covering at this time

Chapter 6

Questions for Review—5th edition

Questions 1-16 are all good review.

Questions for Review—6th edition

Questions 6.1-6.21 are all good review.

Problems—5th edition

Problems 2, 3, 5

Problem 2 is a bit more complicated than I would ask because it compares two policies but I could ask about either one or the other policy

Problems—6th edition

Problems 1-3, 5, 6

Problem 2 is a bit more complicated than I would ask because it compares two policies but I could ask about either one or the other policy
